We are faced with huge humanitarian requests from the field and all our capacities – staff and trained volunteers are organized in specialized teams and engaged in humanitarian response – evacuation, accommodation, providing food and hygiene items, clothes and all other needed items either in collective or private accommodation to the people who were directly affected.

The Red Cross of Serbia is aware that this humanitarian situation and needs will last in long period with necessary engagement of the Red Cross of Serbia.

Your National Society response also showed the deep compassion felt by the people of Czech to the victims of the floods and their families.
